Chris de Burgh

Just one dream can change a nation
Just one man can open a door
A single voice can be lost in time
But a million voices will be heard

Just one dream can change a nation
Just one man can open the door
A single voice will be lost in time
But a million voices will be heard

Just one dream can wake a nation
Just one man can break down a door
A single light can be lost in the dark
But a million lights will shine through the world

Just one dream can change a nation (one dream)
Just one man can break down a door (break down a door)
A single light can be lost in the dark
But a million lights will shine through the world

Just one dream can change a nation
Just one man can break down a wall (break down a wall)
A single light can be lost in the dark (single light)
But a million lights will shine through the world

A million lights will shine through the world
Through the world
